CALL FOR PAPERS

17th US-Japan Conference on Composite Materials:
August 1(Mon) & 2(Tue), 2016, Hokkaido University, Sapporo, Japan

The Japan Society for Composite Materials (JSCM) and the American Society for Composites (ASC) invite you to submit an abstract for the 17th US-Japan Conference on Composite Materials. The conference will feature technical sessions, panel discussions, keynote addresses and international sessions highlighting advances in the analysis, design, manufacturing, and applications of advanced composites.

Conference Themes

Joining and Adhesive Bonding, Advanced Analysis Methods, Out-of-Autoclave Composites, Fibers, Textiles & Preforms, Fatigue, Fracture & Residual Strength, Damage Growth Prediction, Environmental and Recycling, Nano-composites, Maintenance, Inspection & Repair, Wind Energy & Renewable Energy, Offshore and Marine Applications, Automotive & Ground Transportation, Infrastructure & Architectural Application, Composites, Test methods & Certification, Structural Health Monitoring & NDE, Durability, Multi-scale modeling and mechanics, Bio-composites, Composites in Education, Other related composites themes

ABSTRACT & MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

Individuals or organizations interested in presenting should submit a 1 page summary (title, authors, e-mail address of all authors and abstract of 100-500 words) for review.

> February 26, 2016: Abstract Submission Deadline
